WRITE WRITTEN RIGHT.

The following manifold twistification, which a correspondent furnishes, must convince every sceptic, that Sam Patch was right when he said "some things can be done as well as others."—Southern Patriot.

Write, we know, is written right
When we see it written write;
But when we see it written right,
We know 'tis then not written wright:
For write, to have it written right,
Must not be written right or wright;
Nor yet should it be written rite:
But write, for so 'tis written right.

Legislative Debate.—In the Legislative Chamber in Ohio, two of the members recently attempted to settle a vexed question by the dernier resort. Knives were drawn and several honourable members wounded. Shame, where is thy blush!

The ship Tuscany, which sailed from Boston for Calcutta, with a part cargo of Ice, about seven months ago, arrived there in Aug. last, very little of the ice having melted.

2. Be it further enacted, That the capital stock of said corporation shall consist of ten thousand shares, of fifty dollars each. The immediate government and direction of the affairs of said corporation shall be vested in seven Directors, who shall be elected by the stockholders of said corporation, in manner hereafter provided, who shall hold their offices for one year, and until other shall be duly elected and qualified to take their places as directors; and the said directors, a majority of whom shall form a quorum for the transaction of business, shall elect one of their own number to be president of the board, who shall also be president of the corporation; and said directors shall have authority to choose a clerk, who shall be sworn to the faithful discharge of his duty; and a treasurer, who shall give bond to the corporation, with security to the satisfaction of the directors, in a sum not less than twenty thousand dollars, for the faithful discharge of his trust, and shall also take and subscribe an oath of office.

3. Be it further enacted, That the president and directors for the time being are hereby authorized and empowered, by themselves or their agents, to exercise all the powers herein granted to the corporation, for the purpose of locating, constructing and completing said rail roads, and all such other powers and authority for the effectual prosecution of the undertaking hereby intended to be effected, and for the management of the affairs of the corporation not heretofore granted, as may be necessary and proper to carry into effect the object of this grant; to purchase and hold lands, materials and other necessary things, in the name of the corporation, for the use of said roads; to make such equal assessments from time to time, on all the shares in said corporation, as they may deem expedient and necessary in the progress and execution of the work, and direct the same to be paid to the treasurer of the corporation, and to require the treasurer to give notice of such assessments; and in case any subscriber or stockholder shall neglect to pay his assessment for the space of thirty days after due notice by the treasurer as aforesaid, the directors may order the treasurer to sell such share or shares at auction, at some public place, after giving at least ten days' public notice of such sale, and the day and place at which said sale shall take place; and the person being the highest bidder for such share or shares, is hereby declared to be the proper owner thereof, and the same shall be transferred accordingly; and such delinquent subscriber or stockholder shall be holden accountable to the corporation for the balance, if his share or shares shall sell for less than the assessment due thereon, with interest and costs of sale, and shall be entitled to the overplus, if the same shall sell for more than the assessment, interest and costs of sale as aforesaid: Provided, that no assessment shall be made or laid on any share exceeding the whole amount of such share or shares.

4. Be it further enacted, That the said corporation shall have power and authority to make, ordain and establish all such bye laws, rules and regulations and ordinances, as they shall deem expedient and necessary, to accomplish the designs and purposes, and to carry into effect the provisions of this act, and for the well ordering, regulating and securing the interest and affairs of this corporation: Provided always the same shall not in any wise be repugnant to the laws and Constitution of this State.

5. Be it further enacted, That a toll be, and is hereby granted and established for the sole benefit of said corporation on all passengers and property of any description, which may be conveyed or transported upon said rail roads, at such rates per mile, and by the ton or hundred, as may be agreed upon and established from time to time by the directory aforesaid. The transportation of property and persons, the construction of the wheels, the form of cars and carriages, and weight of loads, and all other matters and things relating to the use of said roads, shall be in conformity to such rules and regulations as said directory shall from time to time prescribe and direct; and shall be entitled to receive and demand toll not exceeding the following rates, viz. four cents per ton per mile for toll on property, goods or merchandize, the freight of which is usually charged by the ton, and not exceeding 8 cents a mile per ton of two thousand pounds for transportation, and not exceeding six cents a mile for each passenger, until the nett profits arising from the charges for transportation shall amount to a sum equal to the capital stock expended, with six per centum interest thereon from the time the money was advanced by the stockholders of said corporation until received back in nett profits. But when the nett profits received as aforesaid, shall have amounted to a sum equal to the capital stock expended, with six per centum interest thereon as aforesaid, then the charges for transportation shall be so regulated by said corporation, as shall not exceed upon the whole capital stock expended, after deducting all charges and expenses whatever, for keeping said roads in repair, and for other purposes for the use of said roads, 7 per centum interest upon the whole capital stock expended by said corporation as aforesaid.

6. Be it further enacted, That the directors aforesaid for the time being are hereby authorised to erect toll gates, and establish warehouses and such other buildings, as they may deem necessary, for the use of said road or roads, and appoint toll keepers and other agents to attend to the regulations required by said corporation from time to time, as the work of said roads shall be completed; and they shall, from year to year, make report to the Lesgislature under oath of their acts and doings, of their receipts and expenditures, under the provisions of this act; and their books shall at all times be open to the inspection of any committee of the Legislature appointed for that purpose And if said corporation shall neglect or refuse to make such report at the General Assembly in each and every year, for every such neglect or refusal said corporation shall be liable to pay, to the use of the State, a sum not exceeding ten thousand dollars, to be recovered upon an action of debt in the name of the Governor of the State for the time being in any Court of record of this State.

7. Be it further enacted, That said corporation shall be holden to pay all damages that may arise to any person or persons, corporation or corporations, by taking their lands for said rail roads; and when said lands cannot be obtained by voluntary agreement, the damages to be estimated and recovered in manner and form as follows. That in case of disagreement by the parties, either may apply to the next succeeding County or Superior Court of the County in which such land lies, for a jury of twelve freeholders, who shall go upon the lands and value the same, or make an assessment of such damages, as the case may be, as by them shall be considered just and equitable, and who shall make such valuation or assessment upon oath, which oath shall be administered to them by the Sheriff; and the Court at the time such application is made, shall order and require the Sheriff forthwith to summon a Jury of twelve freeholders, unconnected with either party, who shall, on a day appointed by the order requiring the Sheriff so to summon said Jury, within fifteen days from the end of the term of said Court, view the lands through which the case may be, of said lands, they shall have regard to the additional value which may be conferred upon them by the construction of said road: Provided, however, that the party applying for the intervention of such jury shall give the adverse party at least five days' notice of his, her or their intention to make such application; and the said corporation shall, within thirty days from such assessment or valuation, pay to the owner the full amount of the same. And the sheriff shall require from the jury a written statement of their valuation or assessment, signed by the whole of them; which statement of their valuation or assessment is hereby required and directed, together with his other proceedings had upon the same, to return to the next term of said court; and that the clerk thereof is hereby required to record the said proceedings at full length upon the minutes of said court: Provided, nevertheless, that nothing herein contained shall prevent the party dissatisfied from the right of appealing as in other cases of like nature.

8. Be it further enacted, That lands or other property or estates of any married woman, infant or person non compos mentis, which shall be necessary for constructing said roads, the husband of such married woman and the guardian of such infant or person non compos mentis may release all damages in relation to such lands or estate, to be taken and appropriated as aforesaid, as they might do if the same were holden by them in their own right respectively.

9. Be it further enacted, That if any person or persons shall wilfully, maliciously or wantonly obstruct the passage of any carriage on said roads, or in any way spoil, injure or destroy the same, any part thereof, or any implement or fixture belonging thereto for the use of said roads, he, she or they, or any person or persons assisting, aiding or abetting in such trespass, shall forfeit and pay to said corporation for such offence treble such damages as shall be proven before any Justice of the peace or court of record of this State, having jurisdiction of the same, to be recovered upon an action of debt, to the use of the corporation; and such offender or offenders shall be further liable to indictment within the county where such trespass shall have been committed contrary to the before recited provisions, and upon conviction thereof, be fined or imprisoned at the discretion of the court.

10. Be it further enacted, That the stockholders of said corporation shall, on the first Monday in November, in each and every year, hold in the town of Fayetteville an annual or general meeting, but which may be altered to any other day by said stockholders, a majority thereof agreeing to the same, and at which annual or general meeting the stockholders shall, by ballot, elect seven directors as aforesaid; and that said directors, so elected, shall appoint their president and other officers, as is herein before directed. Each proprietor or stockholder, for his, her or their share owned in said corporation, shall be entitled to one vote for every share as far as five, and for every five shares over five, and not exceeding twenty, three votes; for every ten shares over twenty, and not exceeding fifty, two votes; for every ten shares over fifty, and not exceeding one hundred, one vote; for every twenty shares over one hundred, and not exceeding two hundred, three votes; and for every ten shares over two hundred, one vote: Provided, that no one proprietor or stockholder shall be entitled in his own right to more than two-fifths of the whole number of shares: And Provided also, That nothing herein contained shall be construed to prevent any stockholder in said Corporation from voting in general meeting by proxy.

11. Be it further enacted, That if said rail road, or any of its lateral roads, shall cross any public or private way, the said corporation shall so construct said rail roads, or make such provision for crossing said public or private way, as shall not obstruct the easy passage of said way or ways.

12. Be it further enacted, That the State of North Carolina shall be entitled to, and have preference to subscribe for two-fifths of the capital stock herein before authorised to be created and owned by said corporation, and in like manner shall be entitled to two-fifths of the increased amount of capital stock hereinafter authorised by this act; and that the interest which the State shall or may own in said corporation, shall, at the general meetings of said stockholders, be represented by an authorised agent, appointed in such manner as the Legislature shall from time to time direct; and such agent shall be entitled in the general meetings aforesaid to two-fifths of the whole number of votes, and no more.

13. Be it further enacted, That the persons incorporated by this act, or a majority of them, are hereby authorised and directed to call the first meeting of said corporation, and to give notice thereof in the newspapers published in Fayetteville, Salisbury, Greensborough, Raleigh and Wilmington, of the time, place and purpose of such meetings, at least ten days before the time mentioned in such notice; at which meeting the persons incorporated as aforesaid (a majority thereof being present) shall elect seven directors; which directors shall organize a board, as is herein before directed, for the purpose of opening books of subscription for the reception of subscribers to the capital stock of said corporation, and for such other purposes as may and shall be necessary for the regular organization of the affairs of the corporation, and of giving full and efficient effect to this act: Provided, however, that the directors elected at said first meeting shall not be in office as directors for a longer period than the annual general meeting to be held, as required by this act, on the first Monday of November next; at which time a new election shall take place by the stockholders, as is herein before directed by this act.

14. Be it further enacted, That in addition to the capital stock herein before authorised by this act, the said corporation, for the purpose of extending said rail road and its lateral branches, are hereby authorised to increase and add to the capital stock aforesaid, a sum not exceeding five hundred thousand dollars, in shares of fifty dollars each; and the stockholders of said corporation, in general meeting, shall have power to direct books of subscription to be opened for receiving subscriptions to such increase of its capital stock, at such time, place or places, as the directors of said corporation shall or may deem proper; or, if deemed most advisable, such directory may sell such increased shares of the capital stock as may be required to extend said road or roads, as hereinafter directed, or acquire said capital, or any part thereof, by loan, and may pledge the scrip of the stock of the corporation as collateral security for such loan, or any other loan which the directory may deem necessary to make, to effect the objects of this act.

15. Be it further enacted, That said corporation is hereby authorised to extend said rail road, and any of its lateral ways, to such point or points in the counties of Mecklenburg and Lincoln, as shall and may be found advisable; also to any point or points within the direction of Salisbury, Statesville and Wilkesborough, and by any other lateral roads, so as to embrace and penetrate Randolph, Guilford, Rockingham and Stokes counties.

16. Be it further enacted, That the president and directors aforesaid shall prescribe the form of the certificate or evidence of stock in said corporation; which shall be signed by the president and countersigned by the treasurer thereof, and shall prescribe the manner of transferring said certificate of stock, and of making the same assignable.

17. Be it further enacted, That said directory may put said road, or any part thereof, in operation as soon as the same shall be completed, and semi-annually shall declare dividends out of any nett profits, or any portion thereof, as may be deemed advisable, and the same pay over to each stockholder in proportion to his, her or their share or shares.

18. Be it further enacted, That where it shall become necessary to erect bridges for the use of said road or roads across any river, said directory shall have authority so to construct such bridge or bridges as shall admit of being used by travellers and for neighborhood use, and may ask, demand and receive toll for crossing the same: Provided, that the rate of toll shall not exceed the prices charged by the ferries on such rivers, nor shall toll be charged for persons or passengers on the rail road cars.

19. Be it further enacted, That it shall be lawful for said directory to receive donations, borrow money, and secure the payment of the same by a pledge of the property of the corporation, and make and issue evidences for such loans, and other assurances for the payment thereof.

20. Be it further enacted, That the stockholders in said corporation shall, from time to time, at their general meetings, regulate and fix the salaries of the Directory and other Officers of the corporation; but that the Directory shall fix the compensation to be paid to the agent or superintendents of the corporation.

21. Be it further enacted, That the Directory shall have power to call a general meeting of the stockholders, and that any number of stockholders owning one thousand shares in said corporation, shall also have power to call a general meeting; which meeting the Directory shall convene within forty days immediately after such request of the stockholders as aforesaid, giving thereof not less than thirty days notice in the public newspapers printed in Fayetteville, and in such other newspapers as the Directory may deem advisable.

22. Be it further enacted, That unless the said company shall complete twenty miles of said road within four years from the passage of this act, and unless they shall complete the said road to the Narrows of the Yadkin within ten years from this date, then this act shall be void and of no effect: Provided, That such forfeiture shall not take away the rights of the company to any part of said road which may have been completed at the end of either of the periods aforesaid.

23. Be it further enacted, That it shall be lawful for the General Assembly at any time hereafter, to authorize the construction of any other road to intersect or be connected with this road, which may lead to any market within the limits of this State.

Read three times and ratified in General Assembly, this 11th day January, 1834.

LAW OF NORTH CAROLINA.

Be it enacted by the General Assembly of the State of North Carolina, and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same, That hereafter there shall not be a greater number of Constables in the several Counties in this State than one in each Captain's district, except the districts including the several county towns in this State; which districts shall be entitled to two constables, to be elected as other constables are hereinafter directed to be elected.

II. Be it further enacted, That at any time within one month preceding the first County Court held in the several counties in this State, after the first day of January next, and annually thereafter, the inhabitants of each Captain's district within the several counties in this State, at the usual place of holding the company musters within said district, shall elect, within the bounds of said company, some fit and suitable person to act in the capacity of a Constable for the succeeding year, who shall be returned, and recommended to the Courts of Pleas and Quarter Sessions of said Counties as hereinafter directed; and upon such return being made, under the certificate of the judges appointed to hold said election, the said Courts shall proceed to qualify such persons so returned to act as Constable for one year thereafter, he or they first giving bond with good and sufficient security as by law required: Provided, that no persons shall be entitled to vote for any constable of any such town, except he shall live within the corporate bounds of said town and no person living within the corporate bounds of any such town shall be entitled to vote for constable for the district in which such town is situated.

III. Be it further enacted, That the captains of companies within the several counties in this State, and, in their absence, any justice of the peace within the district, shall, within the time prescribed by the provisions of the second section of this act, and annually thereafter, appoint two discreet and suitable persons to hold said elections, who are required to give at least ten days' notice of such election in two or more public places in such district; and every free white person, having resided for six months next preceding the election within the bounds of said company or district, who is qualified and entitled to vote for members of the House of Commons in the State Legislature, shall be entitled to vote within the district in which he shall reside in all such elections; and the persons receiving the greatest number of votes shall be considered duly elected, and shall be returned, under the certificate of said judges, to the first Court of Pleas and Quarter Sessions which shall happen in said county after said election.

IV. Be it further enacted, That should any person, elected as Constable under the provisions of this act, die, or from any other cause fail to qualify and to give the necessary security, or should any of said companies fail in any manner whatever to hold said elections, then it shall be proper for the Court which shall next happen as aforesaid, seven justices of the peace being present, to supply any vacancy occasioned by such failure; and in case there should be a tie in any election as aforesaid, then the Court shall in like manner determine; and also determine in all cases of contested elections; any law, usage or custom to the contrary notwithstanding.

V. And be it further enacted, That this act shall be in force from and after the ratification thereof: Provided, nevertheless, that nothing contained in this act shall be so construed as to prevent justices of the peace from deputising officers to execute process as already provided by law.

VI. And be it further enacted, That any person voting at any such election, who shall not by law be qualified to vote, he shall be liable to the same penalty as persons voting at elections for members of the General Assembly of this State, who are not qualified according to law.

RIOTS ON THE LINE OF THE CANAL.

We regret to have to inform our readers that the account of the pacification of the riot among the laborers upon the Chesapeake and Ohio Canal, above and below Williamsport (in Washington county, Md.) turns out to be premature. Since the return of the Hagerstown volunteers, with a number of the men under arrest, fresh and fatal hostilities have broken out, in the course of which a number of lives have been lost.

A party of Furdouns or Longfords, consisting of about three hundred men, headed by intrepid leaders, were announced as approaching from below. Their design, they stated to be, to pass up the line of the canal to the upper dam, for the purpose of exhibiting their strength, and not to commit a breach of the peace, unless attacked. They were armed in part with guns, but principally with helves, clubs, &c. They passed up quietly over the aqueduct, and on their way, as we learn, three or four hundred more of the same party fell into their ranks. At the upper dam, in a field on the other side of Middlekauff's, they met the enemy in battle array, drawn up on the top of a hill, about three hundred in number, and armed, in part, with military weapons.

The information we have is, that the attack or at least a challenge to the combat, was made by the latter party. Volleys of shot were exchanged; some men were seen to fall, and the party above began to fall back and disperse before the superior forces of their enemy. A pursuit ensued through the woods, where frequent firing was heard, and no doubt many lives were taken.—Persons who traversed the field after the battle was over, observed five men in the agonies of death, who had been shot through the head; several dead bodies were seen in the woods, and a number wounded in every direction. Those who observed the battle describe it as one of great rage and most deadly violence. All the deaths and wounded are reported to have been of the Corkonians.

About ten o'clock last night the victorious party returned, and passed quietly through this place, after halting a few moments in one of the public streets, to their respective sections and shantees below the town. Quiet was restored for the balance of the night.

National Intelligencer.

Some time since there appeared in the Inquirer of this city, a letter from Washington, in which was a paragraph of the following tenor.

"The sum paid for advertising to F. P. Blair, was $42,000 during the last two years, for the Post Office Department; for the Department of State, nearly 90,000; for the Treasury Department nearly 6,000; for the Navy, nearly 12,000, &c. amounts in some instances equivalent to all paid to other establishments throughout the Union."

We noticed it at the time, and thinking that the correspondent had made some mistake, or was misinformed as to the character of the charges by the publisher of the Globe, we did not think it best to lay the charge before our readers. The piece has, however, been freely circulated in the newspapers and has not, to our knowledge, been contradicted by the Globe.

It is a charge against the U. S. Bank Directors, that they spent a portion of the stockholders extra profit in paying newspapers for publishing documents to sustain those stockholders' interest.

The general government, under pretence of circulating advertisements, has paid within a short time, one hundred and fifty thousand dollars to circulate the political matter of the Globe. It appears to us that it is about time for the people to issue a scire facias.

If we understand the nature of the charges in the above quoted paragraph, we think that we could give the advertisements about three times as much circulation, for about ten thousand dollars.

U. S. Gazette.

Boston, Jan. 10.

An Incident worth recording.—We yesterday saw, at one of the banks in State street, a parcel of American gold coin, worth nearly a thousand dollars, which had been sent in from a country bank. So large an amount of American gold is an unusual collection in any bank, and could not, probably, be found in another. The history of this lot, as it is a little singular, is worth recording. It belonged to a man in the county of Berkshire, in this State, who had been hoarding up since 1810, a period of 24 years, because he had not sufficient confidence in banks and bank securities, to invest his gains in a manner to give him interest. The consequence is, that he has lost, in interest, much more than the amount of his principal; and when he wanted to pay for his farm, he was obliged to sell to a bank, at about one per cent. advance, what has been lying, like dead stock upon his hands for years, and might, by a proper investment, have brought him six per cent. a year. Some of the pieces were of the date of 1795, and few, if any, of later date than 1812.—Comm.

Money.—The Boston Courier of Monday says—"Saturday was the most tempestuous day on 'Change that we have yet had. The gloom was absolutely frightful. The intelligence of a large failure at Gloucester, involving the connexions of the firm in this city to a large amount, was received on Friday evening, and was followed up on Saturday morning by the failure of an old established house in Boston."

From the New York Courier and Enquirer.

We experience no ordinary pleasure in laying before our readers, the following from the "New Jersey Democrat." Captain Stocton is probably the most influential politician in New Jersey; and as honest, honorable, high-minded, and intelligent, as he is influential:

Trenton, N. J., Jan. 18.

A Conversion.—On the night of the 8th inst., the anniversary of the battle of New Orleans, we understand that Capt. R. F. Stocton, of Princeton, gave a public entertainment at Mr. Van Cleve's Hotel in this city, to a very large number of Jacksonmen, and, among others, several members of the Legislature. After the cloth was removed, the Captain rose and addressed the company in an animated and eloquent speech, in which he openly renounced Gen. Jackson, declaring that he could no longer conscientiously support the measures of his Administration. The removal of the deposites he considered as a dangerous usurpation of authority, uncalled for by the exigencies of the times, a positive violation of law, and a most flagrant infraction of the constitution. The Emporium has heretofore lauded the Captain to the skies as a consistent democrat—we expect now to see his name paraded in its columns, accompanied with such beautiful epithets as federalist, aristocrat, demagogue, &c.—N. Jersey Democrat.

Duel.—We understand that a duel was fought on the morning of the 26th inst. at Coosawhatchie, between Col. Benjamin Allston, and Col. Isaac W. Hayne. The parties engaged to fire, we are informed, at five paces. Col. Allston was shot in both thighs, we understand dangerously. Col. Hayne received the ball of his antagonist in the fleshy part of one of his thighs, which wound, we are told, it is not thought will be attended with any serious inconvenience.—Charleston Pat.

of the State require that the said alteration be made at an early day: And whereas, every account desirable that these changes be effected under legislative sanction, by earnestly recommended to the people of each county, in the State, to instruct their representatives in the next General Assembly to pass a law for authorising the election of Delegates by the people, to be chosen upon the basis of the said bill, or upon a basis similar to it, for the purpose of considering and proposing to the people such alterations in our State Constitution, to be approved or rejected by the people, and to restrict them further from making such alterations or amendments whatever, except those are stated in the bill which was reported in the House of Commons, as aforesaid.

Resolved further, That the Convention bill was rejected, this day, by the House of Commons, be spread at large upon the minutes of the House ing as a part of the same.

[The bill appeared at length in the Register of the 14th inst. and is therefore not here, but will be published with the Pamphlet form.]

Resolved, That the members of the present General Assembly be requested to furnish each man of this meeting, or the Chairman of the Executive Committee, with the names of such persons as they consider to be the most suitable to be placed upon the County Committees, not exceeding ten in each county.

Resolved, That the Chairman shall appoint the members of the Executive Committee, and if a vacancy occurs after such appointment the remaining members thereof are authorized to fill the same.

Thereupon the Chairman nominated the Executive Committee, the following, to wit: Wm. H. Haywood, Jr. of Raleigh, Chairman, Romulus M. Saunders and Weston R. Gales, also of Raleigh; Wm. A. Graham of Orange; James Seawell, of Fayetteville, and Wm. R. Hargrove, of Granville.

On motion, it was

Resolved, That the gentlemen who were appointed upon the Executive Committee, by the Chairman of this meeting, be respectfully requested to accept the office and to discharge the duties assigned to them.

On motion,

Resolved, That these proceedings be published, and that the Editors of all newspapers in the State be requested to insert them in their papers.

On motion, the Meeting adjourned sine die.

FROM THE RALEIGH REGISTER.

A VOICE FROM THE EAST.

It will be seen by the following extract from the Circular of Mr. McLeod, of Johnston county, to his Constituents, that the intelligent men of the East are becoming sensible of the radical necessity which exists for a diminution of the expenses of the State Government:—

It is, my fellow citizens, a lamentable fact that we have been here, upwards of two months, together with us together, for nearly two months, at an expense to our people, who pay taxes, of between seven and eight hundred dollars a day; making, altogether, a sum, amounting to between forty and fifty thousand dollars, spent by us in our own persons without having done any thing, that we could have done equally as well in two weeks. The truth, shameful—that taxes should be levied, and brought up here, just for the purpose that two-thirds of the whole of it should be squandered upon the Members of the Assembly. How much wiser would it be, that one-half of it should be spent here by the Assembly, were it for benevolent and useful purposes! How much it would amount to a sum large enough to establish Schools in every neighborhood, if no other purpose could be found for its application, in the run of ten years, which is but a short time in the existence of a State or Country, it would amount to two or three hundred thousand dollars; a sum large enough to effect very many valuable purposes. It is my friends, that our greatest fault lies: we are many of us here, and we meet oftener than any occasion for. If we met but once every two years, and were reduced in number to two hundred to one hundred and fifty, we should not only save forty or fifty thousand of your money annually, but we would do what is done, better and quicker; for any of you know, that when you undertake to do business among two hundred men, let it be ever so small or unimportant, it will take up time, in proportion as the body is over a reasonable number.

One of the greatest faults to be seen in our Legislations here, arises from what is called, private legislation, and that also, grows out of the fact of numbers—it is thus: Every man from a county comes here with a desire to do something by which he is to be noticed here; or of which he can talk at home; consequently, he must bring in a bill of something, no matter what, so his name is seen on the Journals, frequently on the same occasions; as for instance, a bill was passed into a law for a particular county this session, which prevents any person from shooting wild fowl in the night time; now you may easily see that such a proposition in so many, from so many counties, operates not only great delay, but it keeps us from doing foolish and unprofitable laws, for counties—not public laws for the whole, but private ones for some few or more counties. It is this kind of business that detains us to the last degree, and it increases every year. For once a man has such as that done one session, and he will be apt to oppose his re-election the next, for the opponent is apt to succeed, for the people of the people are mighty apt to be willing to be clear of new and strange laws. So whatever comes next year, comes ready to bring in a bill to repeal what was done the year before, for his country—thus, this kind of legislation increases every year until it has now really become a public grievance.

From an article, in the Chapel-Hill [illegible] binger, relating to the properties and [illegible] of the Pine Tree, we extract the following:

"The introduction of Gas-lights for the illumination of the larger Cities at night, has created an additional demand for this article. It is probably known to every North Carolinian who visits New York, that the material for creating the flood of light which surrounds him in many of the city is drawn from the forests of his native State.

Any one who has witnessed the kindling of lightwood knot, or seen a piece of rosin thrown into the fire, would conjecture that either the one or the other would furnish an abundance of gas, and of a good quality. The gas is manufactured in long hollow iron cylinders, filled with [illegible] cite coal. These are heated to a moderate redness—the rosin which stands melted in a small cistern just above them, flows gradually down upon the hot coal and is converted into gas.—From the retorts it flows into the great central reservoir, from which it is conveyed through pipes to the [illegible] on which it is to be consumed."

THE "BLOODY BILL."

[illegible]e excitement on the subject of the Mil[illegible] Bill, with its accompanying Test Oath, [illegible] to be increasing in the upper Districts. [illegible]ings continue to be held in Greenville, [illegible]anburg and other places, at which the [illegible] determined and unyielding resolutions [illegible]opted. We copy to day the proceed[illegible] of some of these meetings; and if we are [illegible]ge from the character and temper of [illegible]solutions, we should say that they [illegible] serious consideration. They are [illegible]dle ravings of bravado, but are the [illegible]nts and feelings of men who have de[illegible]ely made up their minds to be govern[illegible]onger by the spirit of "long suffering [illegible]bearance," but in the language of Mr. [illegible]on in his late speech, they are "the fix[illegible]nd sworn enemy to usurpation, come [illegible] what quarter it may."

[illegible]ration of Climate.—The argument [illegible]some urge in favor of the gradual im[illegible]ent of our climate, is derived mainly [illegible]he history of Europe. At Rome, for [illegible]ple, which is but half a degree South [illegible]s city, whole years sometimes pass [illegible]out the mercury's sinking to the freez[illegible]point: and yet Juvenal, and perhaps o[illegible]old writers, speak of the Tiber being [illegible]en over in their day. OBSERVER.

FAYETTEVILLE:

TUESDAY EVENING, FEBRUARY 4, 1834.

ANOTHER DUN.

But few, comparatively, of those to whom we lately forwarded accounts for subscription to the Observer, have yet responded to our earnest call. We are obliged, therefore, again to ask their attention to the subject, and hope that a sense of justice will procure a speedy settlement.

January 21, 1834.

CONGRESS.—We feel inclined to have a paragraph stereotyped, for convenience during the present session, setting forth that the Deposite Question is still pending in both Houses of Congress, and that one or two speeches in each House have occupied the week. We have already repeated this so often, that we begin to fear that language will fail us to vary the phraseology of the announciation. It is most unfortunate that they are not yet prepared for action; for the whole country is suffering to a degree almost unprecedented. As will be seen by extracts in to-day's paper, the pressure in the large commercial cities is appalling. Private accounts from the same places represent matters even in a worse light. Perhaps it is needless to state, what is so well known here, that Fayetteville partakes of the common distress.—In the mean time, what is Congress doing? Nothing. What is the Administration doing? Nothing. The latter have brought down these difficulties upon us, and as Mr. Webster asks, What do they propose to relieve us from them? Nothing.

During the past week, Mr. Preston of S. C. occupied two days in delivering his speech in the Senate, in opposition to the course of the Administration. In the course of his remarks, the spectators in the galleries began to applaud, when the Vice President ordered the galleries to be cleared. While the officers were carrying the order into execution, a motion was made by Mr. Poindexter, to suspend the order; and, after a few words from Mr. Webster, indicating that the Senate would support the Chair in the course he might pursue, the Vice President rescinded the order.

Mr. Forsyth replied to Mr. Preston, in a speech also occupying 2 days. Mr. Sprague then obtained the floor.

On the 23d, Mr. Mangum presented the memorial of a numerous and respectable body of citizens of the State of North Carolina, complaining of the evils occasioned by the deranged state of the pecuniary affairs of the country, which they ascribe to the removal of the public deposites from the Bank of the United States, and praying for the interposition of Congress for a speedy restoration of them to that institution. Referred to the Committee on Finance.

Mr. WEBSTER presented the proceedings of a public meeting held in the town of New Bedford, in the State of Massachusetts.

Mr. WEBSTER said, that New Bedford had been one of the most prosperous and fast-growing towns in Massachusetts. Its citizens were engaged in a most useful, hardy, and adventurous commerce, in which they had met with much success; and, three months ago, their condition was flourishing and happy; but a sudden and most extensive reverse has happened to it. Thirty or forty failures are said to have happened, and great pressur and distress prevail. I feel it my duty, said Mr W., to present these things to the consideration of the Senate.

If there can be either any faith in men's statements, or if facts be any proof, the pressure, so far from diminishing, is increasing. I am informed by undoubted authority, that in one of our cities, supposed to posses its full proportion of capital, money, for the best security, is not to be had for less than from twelve to eighteen per cent. per annum, nor in large sums even for that interest; and this very week, in another city, one of the largest and most flourishing in the Union, undoubted security could be had for money at three per cent. per month.

While we are talking about the danger of the moneyed aristocracy of the Bank, a state of things is suffered to exist which is a perfect carnival to the real moneyed aristocracy, if there be any such thing in the country. Capitalists, holding up their money for such enormous rates of interest, and being able to command such rates, shows what sacrifices are made by industrious men, of small capital, to protect themselves from absolute ruin. In many places, numerous workmen have been thrown out of employ, not only in the manufacturing establishments, but in the mines of some of the middle States. Indeed, if the information of the morning is correct, one of these States had suffered a great disappointment in failing to receive the instalments on its loans, according to contract, and was obliged to take other measures for supplying the means of carrying on its public works.

I take this occasion, Mr. President, to call again on gentlemen, who may be supposed to know something of the purposes of the Administration, to know what their plan is? Have they any measures in readiness? Do they propose any relief? Or do they mean to leave it to the Secretary, and to the State Banks, to meet the crisis as they may'

I implore the sober consideration of gentlemen to this matter; and I shall feel it my duty to repeat the inquiry at such reasonable time, as that, in the absence of any answer, it may be fairly inferred that the Administration has no measure to propose.

In the House of Representatives, on the same subject, Mr. Huntingdon, of Conn. has made a two days speech, in opposition to the Administration, and Mr. Archer of Va. was to follow.

A bill has been introduced to authorize the admission of the Territory of Michigan into the Union as a State.

The other proceedings are barren of interest.

The New State Bank.—We understand that at Raleigh, on Saturday last, the books of the State Bank were opened by a subscription, in the name of a distinguished individual, of one hundred shares, amounting to $10,000. We are of opinion, that the Stock will be readily subscribed.

The Mails.—We have received no mail north of Richmond since Saturday last.

We insert in to-day's paper, two acts of the late General Assembly. The first, incorporating our Rail Road company, is unexceptionable as a charter. The other, giving the election of Constables to the people, we think of injurious tendency. The Editor of the Greensborough Patriot says that he can't make sense of it, though he has read it downwards, and upwards, and cross-wise. He concludes by saying, that "the man who drew the act, as well as those who passed it through the two houses as a complete piece of workmanship, may have been sober, but it is put together very much like articles we have written when we were not so!"

A large and respectable meeting was held at Concord, Cabarrus county, a few days since, on the subject of the Deposites, at which it was resolved that the removal was an arbitrary measure, and that the Representative in Congress from that District, the Hon. Mr. Conner, be instructed to vote for their restoration to the Bank of the United States.

A new post office has been established in Anson county, N. C. called Bevarly, and Stephen W. Cole, Esq. appointed postmaster.

La Fayette, it is said, is coming to pay us another visit. The statement is made in the letters of Mrs. Willard, lately written from France. One of his grand daughters is to accompany him.

State Loan.—We learn from a friend at Harrisburg, that the Governor has sent a message to the Legislature informing them that Messrs. Allen had given up the State Loan, being unable to pay the instalment. Messrs. Allen are known to be immensely wealthy, and if any individuals could have raised the money, they could. The pressure, however, is so great that money cannot be raised on any security. We are assured that the embarrassment of our finances cannot be permanent. The Governor requested the House to adopt immediate measures for raising three hundred thousand dollars as a temporary expedient.

Philadelphia Intelligencer.

In reference to the communication of the Governor of Pennsylvania, respecting the failure of S. & M. Allen & Co. to make good their contract for the loan of the State, we are requested by those gentlemen to say, that they have paid two millions three hundred thousand dollars of the loan, which was for three millions of dollars; that they requested permission to delay the payment due on the 15th inst., of one hundred and fifty thousand dollars, until the money market, and the rate of exchange on England should be more favorable; but that the Governor did not feel himself authorized to grant any such delay; and hence the communication to the Legislature.—N. Y. American.

Distress.—We regret to say that the pecuniary distress which has for some time weighed upon our community has not been relieved.—It would seem that the sources of our prosperity are for the present completely dammed up. Public confidence is wholly destroyed; industry labors almost without incentive or reward; and enterprise finds neither in the present or future, that which will justify adventure. The distress appears to have reached the interior. We learn that the Country Banks are unable to afford their usual favors; the farmers find it difficult to effect sales of their produce at a fair rate; and many of them, alarmed at the state of things, are changing their notes into specie, and withdrawing their deposits to hoard them at home.—Phila. Int.

The Money Market.—It is a melancholy day in Wall street, and indeed throughout the commercial part of the city. We have never seen so deep a cloud of gloom hanging over the Exchange. Stocks have fluctuated during the week, but have on the whole declined, until to-day, when the fall has been heavy and general. The U. States Bank stands with the most steadiness. The best paper in this city has been selling at from 1½ to 3 per cent. a month discount. The difficulty of negotiating bills on the South and West—the withdrawal of orders for goods—with the continued and increasing want of confidence—all contribute to increase the difficulty under which our merchants are labouring.—N. Y. Com. Adv.

New York, January 27.

Saturday was a fearful day for all who had payments to make or wages to receive.

The distress is becoming universal, and all classes, save only political hacks or leaders, are taking measures in earnest to make their voice heard by Congress.

The Memorials of the Builders, &c., of the Arts connected with Printing and Publishing, and of the Merchants' Clerks, will be found under another head. Each art and trade should, and will, we hope, name a delegate, to co-operate at Washington with those named at the Exchange.

American.

As some evidence of the present distress among business men, and consequent suffering of the poorer classes, we state upon undoubted authority, that four wholesale clothing establishments have within a few days discharged from their employ nearly one thousand persons. There are in this city employed by the various clothing establishments, ten thousand persons, almost all of whom will be out of employ in a few days, if this state of things continues.

Daily Advertiser.

Extract of a letter, dated Augusta, Jan. 28.

The Cotton Market advanced yesterday from last week fully half a cent, without any apparent cause except that there was more buyers in the market, and a considerable wish to make purchases. There is not much offering at present, but we expect there will be more in a day or two.—A lot square bales sold to-day at 10½.

We learn that representations having been made to the Secretary of the Treasury of the United States that the notes of the Bank of the Metropolis, a large amount of which has been paid to the mail contractors, are not current in this section of the country, assurances have been given by that officer that arrangements will be made with our State Bank for the remedy of the evil; and that any merchant or other person who may receive such notes, by forwarding them to Washington, shall receive for them drafts on Baltimore or New York.—Ral. Star.

Superior Courts.—The Judges of the Superior Courts have made the following allotment of the circuits among themselves for the year 1834, viz.

	Spring.	Fall.
Edenton,	Judge Martin,	Judge Strange.
Newbern,	Seawell,	Norwood.
Raleigh,	Settle,	Donnell.
Hillsborough,	Norwood,	Seawell.
Wilmington,	Donnell,	Settle.
Morganton,	Strange,	Martin.

Experimental Rail Road Company.—The Managers of this Company have declared a Dividend of ten per cent. on its capital Stock, for the nine months that the Road has been in operation. Besides this, when the work was finished, the Company were encumbered with debt, which consumed the first profits of their "Experiment." The success which has attended this, the only Rail Road in North Carolina, must prove a source of high gratification to its projecters, while it should convince the incredulous, that they never fail of yielding a profitable return for capital invested.—Raleigh Register.

New Digest.—The Commissioners appointed under an Act of the last Legislature, to revise and digest our public Statute Laws, met in this City last week, and have entered promptly upon the duties assigned them.—Ib.

The Alexandria Gazette of Friday says:—"A forged check was presented and paid at the Bank of Virginia in Fredericksburg, a few days ago. The check originally was for $96; it was altered to $9,600. The check forger has been pursued to this District, but was not apprehended yesterday."

APPOINTMENT

By the President, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate.

JAMES A. BAYARD, of Delaware, to be a Director in the Bank of the United States for the year 1834.

Great Verdict.—In the case of John Randel, Junior, against the Chesapeake and Delaware Canal Company, (which has been under trial for several weeks in the State of Delaware) the Jury, after four days spent in their chamber, came into Court last Saturday afternoon, the 25th inst. awarding to the plaintiff the large sum of two hundred and twenty-six thousand three hundred and eighty-five dollars damages.

Macon, Jan. 28.

Our streets began to put on more of a business aspect than they have worn for some weeks—though Cotton still comes in but in small quantities. The scarcity of money is unprecedented. We quote the price of Cotton at 8 a 9½.

The James and Kenawha.—The reader will learn with great satisfaction, that a Bill has passed the House of Delegates for a subscription of $500,000 more, on the part of the State, to this great work. It will go through the Senate without any serious opposition.—Richmond Compiler.

FROM THE NEWBERN SPECTATOR.

We are gratified to hear on all hands a decided condemnation and disapproval of the course pursued by our State Legislature at the late session. We have not heard a single person speak of it but in terms of bitterness and disappointment. This promises well for the future, and will, we hope, produce a radical change of opinion concerning the fitness of a certain class of men for legislators.—Experience will fully justify the assertion, that the poverty, the comparative ignorance, and indeed most of the evils that oppress us as a people, are fairly attributable to defective legislation; and the more we reflect on the subject the more we are surprized that we are not in a worse condition than we find ourselves, bad as that is.—It is altogether a mistake to suppose that men of circumscribed qualifications can discharge properly the arduous duties of representatives of the people. Their integrity and good intentions may be all that can be desired; but these passive good qualities, though indispensible auxiliaries, go but a short way in developing and directing the energies and policy of a people. The appointment of incapable men proceeds principally from the ridiculous custom of supporting self-nominated candidates. Seldom indeed do we see men of talents or proper feelings intrude themselves as candidates for public favour; and when others of less merit boldly raise themselves above their heads, such men shrink from the contest. The effects of this perversion of sense on the part of the people are too lamentably visible. It may sound harshly to the ears of some aspirants, but the people may believe us when we assert, that we will never be properly or ably represented while we continue to accept the services of those who are most forward in offering. Let us, therefore, with one accord, scout the man who offers himself unsolicited: Let the people, in their primary assemblies, select him whom they believe to be competent and honest, and give him their support. The more candidates of this kind that are in nomination, the more likely it is that the final selection will be a suitable and proper one.

There are several important questions of State policy upon which the opinions of candidates should be well ascertained before the next election. No man should go from among his constituents unpledged to vote for the proposed amendments in the Constitution, to promote internal improvements and the establishment of common schools.—Thus pledged, the business of the people will be done, but from what we have just witnessed, they can not hope to have their wishes complied with without such a pledge.

The Methodist Church.—From the General Minutes which are just issued, we learn that the increase of members last year, in the U. States, is 71,178—travelling preachers one hundred and seventy-five. The increase abroad was about 30,000.

We learn, through a private channel, that the Massachusetts Grand Lodge of Freemasons has determined to surrender its charter, and has memorialized the State Legislature to that effect.—National Intelligencer.

FROM THE NATIONAL INTELLIGENCER.

Messrs. Gales & Seaton: Gentlemen—You published a few days since a squib about the Mail, and I ask you, in justice, to republish it with a reply in kind.

HURRA! THE MAIL!

For God's sake, Tom, stop, just one minute to think! Revolution's a coming, we're e'en now on the brink, We've had showers of stars, which was monstrously queer—
But not half so uncommon, as what I now hear.
A miracle's happened—pray you bear it in mind—
The MAIL has got in BUT twelve hours behind!

REPLY.

'Audi alteram partem' or, HURRA! THE STAGE!
Shame! shame on you, Ned, to cry out Revolution,
And recall to our thoughts, our poor, late, Constitution—
Such nonsensical hope to excite in our mind,
"Because the Mail's in BUT twelve hours behind."
Now the fact I deny, and will swear, at this minute,
'Twas the STAGE that got in, but THE MAIL WASN'T IN IT.

TO NORTHERN MERCHANTS.

The Western Carolinian,

Published weekly, in Salisbury, Rowan County, North Carolina.

HAVING probably as large a circulation as any Paper in the State, and certainly a much larger one than any in the Western (most wealthy portion,) is offered to Northern Merchants as a valuable Advertising medium, through which to communicate with their customers, or those whom they desire as customers, in this section of country.

TERMS OF ADVERTISING.

1 Advertisements will be conspicuously and correctly inserted at 50 cents per square for the first insertion, and 33¾ cents for each continuance; but where an advertisement is ordered to go in only twice, 50 cents will be charged for each insertion.

2. Merchants, Mechanics, and Professional Gentlemen, who may desire constantly to appear before the Public, in our advertising columns, will be received as yearly advertisers, and a deduction of 15 per cent. will be made from the above charges.

☞Yearly Advertisers will have the privilege of renewing their advertisements monthly, and of receiving the paper without charge.

JOHN BEARD, Jr.
Editor and Proprietor.

TO NORTHERN MERCHANTS, AND OTHER GENTLEMEN OF BUSINESS.

The Carolina Watchman,

Published weekly, in Salisbury, Rowan County, North Carolina,

HAVING probably a larger list of Subscribers who can read, than any Paper in this vicinity, and certainly a much better one than any in this Town, would be glad to do Advertising for such as may have it to do. We solicit this patronage, with the more confidence, that our paper has already been much used in this way by Commercial Gentlemen, and is much read by them. We think Northern Merchants might be benefitted by using our columns.

TERMS OF ADVERTISING.

Fifty Cents for the first square, and Twenty five Cents for each insertion afterwards—or a Dollar a month by the square where an advertisement is ordered for six months.

H. C. JONES,
Editor and Proprietor.

NEW YORK

Wholesale Clothing Warehouse

No. 68, PEARL STREET.

THE Subscribers, wholesale dealers in Ready Made Clothing, have on hand a large and general assortment, manufactured for the Spring trade, of materials suitable for the Southern and Western markets. Their assortment comprises every article usually required for those markets, and of description, size, &c. to give satisfaction to purchasers. The articles are marked at regular and stated prices, and in no case will there be the least deviation from those prices.

A credit of six months will be given for notes payable at Banks in any part of the country, and in all cases, when the time is extended, interest will be charged at the rate of six per cent. per annum. Two and a half per cent. will be allowed for city acceptances, and a very liberal discount for cash.
